Robinson raised a high pop to Berra in front of home plate. Musial was safe at second when Fox dropped Berra's perfect throw. Ashburn scored on Fox error as Musial held second. Hodges bounced out Carrasquel to Paine.

D. DiMaggio bunted Roberts' first pitch down the third base line and beat Elliott's throw to first for an infield single. Fox popped to Campanella. Carrasquel hit a Texas League single over second that Ashburn fielded on the first bounce. Enos Slaughter, Cardinals, batted for Roberts and lined to Williams in deep left. Wertz took Ashburn's soft fly. Kell came in on the grass to field Dark's high chopper and threw him out at first.

L. L. Studer is Club Speaker

The regular Optimist club meeting was held today noon. It was presided over by Charles Hanna, vice president. The speaker was introduced by John Carroll, program chairman. He was L. L. Studer, district storekeeper for the Missouri Pacific railroad who spoke on "The American Way of Life." Mr. Studer pointed out in his talk that many of our difficulties come from our lukewarm attitude toward the things that make life worth living. Also Mr. Studer said that our refusal to accept responsibility and failure to practice humility, envy of our fellow man and our quick judgment to make excuses keeps us as individuals from being strong.

Fire Still Burns In Propane Tank

NEWARK, N. J., July 10.—(P)—Fire burned briskly today in a propane gas tank wrecked in the $5,000,000 blast and fire Saturday at the Warren Petroleum Sales Corp. here.

Newark Fire Chief Charles Burnett said the sudden flareup in the wrecked tank "is a matter of grave concern" since it is a threat to some 60 remaining unwrecked tanks containing the highly inflammable propane cooking gas.

The city fire department has assigned 12 engine companies and three truck companies to the area where more than 70 of the huge cylindrical tanks erupted and caused severe damage over a mile square area.

To Ask Death Penalty For Accused Killer

Kenneth Essary to Trial For Shooting W. T. Shockley

MARSHFIELD, Mo., July 10.—(P)—Prosecuting Attorney John Hosmer told an all-male jury today he will ask the death penalty for Kenneth Essary, 24, on trial for the slaying of William Thomas Shockley. He is also accused of killing three other members of the Shockley family.

Hosmer made his opening statement before a packed room in the Webster county courthouse. He said the state had a signed statement in which Essary admitted the slayings.

Roy Miller, defense attorney, waived an opening statement. He indicated in questioning prospective jurors yesterday that temporary insanity would be the defense.

Charles Warren, clerk in a hardware store at Conway, testified that he sold Essary a .22 caliber automatic rifle and four boxes of shells the afternoon of last April 3, before the shooting that night.

Warren said Essary told him he bought the weapon "on account of some wolves on my place."

Called to Home

Luke O'Connor, brother-in-law of William Shockley, said he was summoned to the home the night of the shooting by a telephone call from Helen Shockley, who later was killed.

"I started to get out of my pickup truck and some one started shouting 'shoot!' O'Connor testified. "All I could see was that it was a man."

O'Connor said he "stayed around the Shockley home just long enough to get away."

Later, he said he counted 18 bullet holes in his truck.

Other witnesses included Jimmie Shockley, young son; and Shirley Shockley, teen-age niece of William Shockley, and Charles Bilderback of Conway, who said he bought $120 worth of pigs from Essary on the day of the shooting.

Jimmie Shockley said he was in bed at the time and did not see the slayer. But he said he heard some one come to the front door, heard his mother tell him to go around to the back.

"Then daddy told him to come in and he started shooting," Jimmie said.

Hosmer said he expected to call about 20 state witnesses and believed the trial would continue through tomorrow.

Fatally Injured While Serving as Flagman

LAMAR, Mo., July 10.—(P)—Charles E. Trabue, 60, of Farber, Mo., was injured fatally by a grading machine near here yesterday while working as a highway construction flagman.

The grader, backing up, caught Trabue's foot and knocked him down. His head struck the pavement.

There also was a bit of an air of a September country fair.

"Tent city" is laid out much like the tents at a small carnival or circus. Glittering military police and special guards surrounded all the gates and entrances.

And there were nearly 10 newsmen of every shape, type and description. The only important news agency not represented this morning was TASS—the official Soviet news service.

The newsmen here represented every important media outside the iron curtain. Not only were the wire services out in strength—the Associated Press had six men at this one spot alone—but almost every important newspaper in the world had a correspondent.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(P)—Over administration opposition, the House today voted restrictions on imports of fats and oils if they compete with American farm products.

It was an initial victory for farm state members in the House struggle over a new economic controls law.

They won on a voice vote. Many of the same farm members are behind proposals to wipe out the present price rollback on beef and prohibit future rollbacks on all agricultural products.

A vote on it may not come until later in the week.

British Shift Tactics on Oil

Move to Soften Threats to Pull Out Technicians

TEHRAN, Iran, July 10.—(P)—A sharp switch in British tactics in the Iranian oil dispute became increasingly clear today. There's a surprising move to soft-pedal previous threats to withdraw all British technicians from Iran and let the Persians stew in their own oil.

A new policy of trying to hang on as long as possible—in the face of nationalization of holdings of the British-owned Anglo-Iranian oil company—is replacing the tough talk of only a week ago that the big refinery at Abadan and the surrounding south Iranian oil fields would be shut down.

One Iranian official, commenting on the new developments, declared: "We've always said the British were bluffing when they threatened to pull out. It looks as though Premier (Mohammed) Mossadeq's 'no compromise' stand is working."

There was no indication that Mossadeq would change that "no compromise" determination to seize control of the billion-dollar company's Iranian installations. But a government spokesman said the premier is giving careful consideration to President Truman's offer yesterday to send his personal representative.

W. Averell Harriman, to Iran to help find a settlement.

Mossadeq told U. S. Ambassador Henry F. Grady that Truman's latest mediation attempt came "a little late."

Official circles indicated they believed Mossadeq would accept the president's offer to send Harriman to avoid offending American public opinion—even though he may not back down on his oil nationalization aims.

Atmosphere Less Tense

But the atmosphere was cleared a little after A. E. Mason, AIOC acting general manager, said yesterday that the British staff would remain indefinitely. As late as Friday, a British embassy spokesman here declared withdrawal of the staff—which would cause the refinery to close down for lack of technicians—was "inevitable."

Today the same spokesman said, however, that operations may run smoothly.

Recommend Cut to State Department

$52,854,476 Slash Proposed By The House Committee

WASHINGTON, June 10.—(P)—The House appropriations committee recommended today an 18 per cent cut in this year's funds for the state department, but aimed none of the reduction directly at Secretary Acheson.

Republicans seeking to force Acheson's ouster withheld their fire until the bill financing his department reaches the House floor, probably early next week.

They did not offer in the committee a proposal to prohibit the use of any department funds to pay Acheson's salary during the fiscal year which started July 1. Such a ban probably will be offered during House debate, and Democratic leaders have conceded the vote will be close.

The committee recommended that the state department be given $231,432,000 of the $283,686,476 President Truman requested. That would be a cut of $52,254,476.

This was a smaller percentage reduction than the committee applied to the 1952 budget of the commerce department, whose funds, along with those of the justice department and the judiciary, are carried in the same bill.

The justice department was allotted $181,667,000 of the $184,356,000 it requested, a cut of 1 1/2 per cent.

The commerce department was given $612,698,000 of the $763,763,925 it wanted, a cut of 20 per cent.

The federal judiciary was cut from $26,489,740 to $25,918,115, a 2.2 per cent reduction.

The $1,051,715,115 total in the four-agency measure was $206,581,026 less than the $1,258,296,141 the President requested. That is a reduction of about 16 per cent.

The committee's action, of course, is subject to approval by the House and then the Senate. Nowhere in a lengthy written report accompanying the bill did the committee refer directly to Acheson.

Engineer Dead At The Controls

FRANKLIN, Ky., July 10.—(P)—A passenger train pulled into Franklin of schedule last night at 8:40. The engineer, U. G. Elrod, was dead at the controls when J. W. Moyers of the Franklin station saw an unidentified fireman saw the engineer slump in his seat as the train approached the city. The fireman applied the emergency brake and stopped the train.

Moyers said Elrod, about 60, of Bowling Green, Ky., apparently died of a heart attack.

The Louisville & Nashville passenger train was en route from Nashville to Louisville.

News of Soldiers to Home Town Papers

KANSAS CITY, July 10.—(P)—The army is setting up a news office here to send all news of soldiers to their hometown newspapers.

Army units, both in this country and abroad, have been handling such news independently.

Each unit now will send its items about awards, decorations and soldiers' affairs to the new army hometown news center here.

The center will select the best and pass them on to the newspapers. The center expects to handle 1,000,000 stories a year eventually.

Babe Ate Poisoned Fish and Then Dies

ST. LOUIS, July 10.—(P)—Philip Colenburg, 19-month-old Negro baby, died yesterday after eating a piece of fish that had been covered with poison in an effort to kill rats at his home.

Society to Promote More Love in World

TOKYO, July 10.—(P)—SPMLW recently held its first meeting in Korea.

SPMLW was formed by the men of Company A, 35th Infantry regiment, U.S. 25th division. It means: "Society for the Promotion of More Love in the World."

"We just want to show people by any means whatsoever that it's better to love than to hate," said Pte. George E. Pierson, Jr., of East Orange, N.J.

Hearings On Eating Places Ordinance

Director of Pure Food Body Leads In The Discussion

A public hearing on a proposed ordinance governing sanitation of restaurants, cafeterias, coffee shops, short-order cafes, lunchettes, taverns, sandwich stands, soda fountains, and all other eating or drinking establishments as well as kitchens or other places in which food or drink is prepared for sale elsewhere, was held Monday night. The hearing was conducted in the City Council chamber of the city hall with Mayor Herb Studer presiding.

The mayor opened the meeting, attended by more than 75 persons, stating the purpose was to discuss the proposed restaurant ordinance which was tabled some time ago by the City Council, and to criticize or recommend any changes of the ordinance.

Payton Reads Report

The mayor then introduced Lewis Payton, district engineer for the Division of Health of Missouri. Payton read from a report he made to the City last August on a survey made of local eating and drinking establishments, stating there are 70 such places and 65 were inspected. He said 43 of the 65 places were complying with regulations which are proposed in the ordinance.

Payton then introduced J. L. Rowland, director of the Pure Food and Drug Department of the Division of Health, who handled the discussion.

Rowland explained the advantages of the proposed ordinance to the proprietors, managers and employees of establishments which the ordinance will effect after which he held open forum.

It was explained that Sedalia is the largest city in Missouri which at present does not have some type of a health ordinance governing restaurants.

Grading Board Suggested

A suggestion that any person asking for a hearing on the grading of his or her establishment be held before a board instead of the Health Officer of the city alone. The board would consist of at least three persons.

It also was suggested that this recommendation be incorporated in the proposed ordinance, and that such a hearing be held in secret or closed.

One proprietor during the discussion remarked, "It seems to me the public should be educated along the lines of public health safety as well as the restaurants operator."

Mayor Studer after the discussion stated he desired to appoint a committee to study the ordinance and to work with Rowland and his office to perfect a workable ordinance for Sedalia, and incorporate into the ordinance their thinking. Then to either recommend the passage of an ordinance or to forget it.

Bernard Heads Group

On this committee he appointed Charles A. Bernard, Crown Drug Store manager as chairman; Mrs. Okeke Rice of the Old Missouri Homestead; William E. Cough of the Ohio Street and the Bard Dug Co.; Lyman Keuper of the Wheel Inn, and Thurlow Puckett of Puckett's.

The meeting as a whole was harmonious and several good suggestions were offered during the discussion.

Ed W. Simpson, Jr., supervisor of the restaurant program for the Department of Health, and Norman Geiger, Pure Food and Drug representative also were present at the meeting and took part in the discussion.

Shriners In a Gala Parade

NEW YORK, July 10.—(P)—An estimated 20,000 red-fezzed Shriners colorfully garbed in oriental costumes gave New York a gala show today with a parade on Fifth avenue.

The traditional camels were missing through a slip-up in arrangements as the four-hour procession began, but brilliantly bedecked horses were in line.

The parade was led by a detachment of 50 mounted New York City police.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, himself a Shriner, was invited to review the parade. But his office said he was unable to attend because of the press of office work and that he would review another parade of the Shriners Thursday night.

The paraders were among approximately 100,000 Shriners and members of their families here for the 77th annual convention of the ancient Arabic order, nobles of the mystic Shrine.

The costumes, most with knee-length pants, offered a kaleidoscope of color rivaling a rainbow. Some of the marchers wore turbans instead of fezzes.

Favorable Trend In Progress To Discuss Cease-Fire Proposal

Prediction Made For New Crises

MOSCOW, July 10.—(P)—Diplomatic observers stationed here are predicting new crises in western-Soviet relations—possibly a new Berlin crisis—over the west's moves on the German and Japanese questions.

Some observers here said that if the western powers follow up the action ending their state of war with Germany by moving toward a separate German treaty, they may make their position in Berlin most difficult, if not untenable. (The observers are not identified in this dispatch, which was subject to the usual Russian censorship).

They add there is almost sure to be some way in which the Soviets could retaliate for actions they are certain to denounce as violations of international understandings.

As for the western plans for a peace treaty with Japan, Moscow newspapers are saying that the Chinese people—meaning the Chinese Communist government—will "never permit the resurrection of Japanese militarism."

They are charging that the move toward a Japanese treaty is part of a plan to remilitarize Japan.

Japan and Germany are the two sorest spots in international relations so far as Moscow is concerned.

Call For Field Bank Accounts

Senate Group in Summons to Him For Testimony

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(P)—Chairman McCarran (D-Nev) said today the Senate Internal Security Committee has ordered Frederick Vanderbilt Field to come before it and bring along his bank accounts.

McCarran said Field will be questioned, among other things, about the bail raised by the Civil Rights Congress for the four missing Communist leaders convicted in New York of conspiracy to advocate the violent overthrow of the government.

McCarran said Field has been subpoenaed to testify at a closed-door hearing here on Thursday.

Field, a great-great-grandson of Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, has been judged in contempt of court in New York for his refusal to disclose contributors to the bail fund.

Federal District Judge Sylvester Ryan sentenced Field to 90 days in jail. Field gave notice of appeal and was released on $10,000 bail yesterday after spending the week-end in jail.

Ryan, in questioning Field about the bail fund, took the position that the information asked might give some clue to the whereabouts of the Four Communist fugitives.

The Communists lost an appeal to the supreme court from their conviction and are due to begin serving jail sentences but the FBI has been unable to locate them. They were at liberty under bond during their appeal.

Field is a co-trustee of the Civil Rights Congress, the organization which put up bond for the Communists.

McCarran said the committee wanted to question Field about his activities, about how the bail fund was raised for the missing Communists, and about the Civil Rights Congress.

First Child of Hodiaks Is a Girl

HOLLYWOOD, July 10.—(P)—The first child of actress Anne Baxter and her husband, Actor John Hodiak, is a girl. The six-pound, seven-ounce baby was born yesterday. The Hodiaks were married in 1946.

KANSAS CITY, July 10.—(P)—Scattered heavy rains overnight brought no new flood threats to Missouri.

The swollen Missouri river was expected to crest at Booneville tomorrow morning at 28.7 feet of 7.7 above bankful, and at Jefferson City Thursday evening at 29.7 or 6.7 above flood stage. This would be a further rise of three-tenths of a foot at each place.

Despite torrential downpours in eastern Kansas which sent the Marais des Cygnes upward, the river, known as the Osage in Missouri, is expected to fall in this state after reaching a crest of 31 to 31.5 feet at Osceola at midnight tonight. Bankful is 22 feet there. The stage was 34.3 feet or 9.3 above bankful at Schell City.

The largest rainfalls reported in Missouri were 2.90 at Poplar Bluff, 2.89 at Nevada and 2.80 at Roby. Other rainfalls: Lamar 1.85, Butler 1.84, Lebanon 1.43, Joplin 1.21, Springfield 1.11, Harrisonville 1.08, St. Thomas 90, Lakeside 85, Windsor 85, Kansas City 65, Warrensburg 64, Odessa 60, Clinton 55.

The most critical point is the Hunn levee on the Missouri above West Alton, lying between the Missouri and the Mississippi. About 100 airmen from Scott Air Force base and other volunteers are working to reinforce it with sandbags.

The problem in this area now appeared to be levees. Pounded unrelentingly for days by high waters, flood workers continued today to reinforce them with sandbags.

Forecast Given On Grain Crops

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(P)—The agriculture department today forecast this year's corn crop at 3,295,143,000 bushels. This compared with a defense program of at least 3,375,000,000 bushels.

The indicated acreage, yield per acre and production, respectively, of corn and wheat by major-producing states included: Corn: Missouri 4,200,000 acres, 40.0 bushels and 168,000,000 production.

Winter Wheat: Missouri 1,485,000, 18.0 and 26,730,000.

Assails Plan To Withhold On Dividends

William Jackman Tells Committee 'It is Insulting'

By Joe Hall

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(P)—A spokesman for investors said today a House approved plan to withhold 20 per cent of dividends for income taxes is "a police state procedure."

William Jackson of New York, president of the Investors League, Inc., told the tax-writing Senate Finance committee the proposal "is not only discrimination; it is insulting to at least 10,000,000 loyal Americans."

"It says to this group, in effect, I do not trust you to pay taxes on the income which you receive from dividends and interest payments."

"I believe you will chisel on Uncle Sam at this time when revenues are badly needed. In order words I think you are a crook."

The witness told the Senators "I know and you know that our upwards of 10,000,000 investors in the United States are not crooks."

The committee is studying the House-approved bill to boost taxes $7,200,000,000 a year. The dividend withholding provision was put into the measure as the request of the treasury which estimated it would produce $323,000,000 annually.

Jackman contended it would bring in some money which is not owed the government. More than 47 per cent of stockholders have incomes of less than $5,000 a year, he said.

In cases where the investor does not owe as much as 20 per cent of his dividends in taxes, refunds may be made in time, the witness said. But he pointed out the stockholder will not have the use of this portion of his income until he gets a refund.

Jackman was the first of 15 scheduled witnesses in the heaviest day of testimony before the Senate group.

A flood of witnesses have asked to be heard, dimming prospects for quick Senate action on the bill.

Return For More Servicemen

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—(P)—Four military transports bearing more than 3,700 servicemen from Korea and Japan are to arrive in San Francisco within the next two days.

The U. S. S. President Jackson is due this afternoon with 1,082 army men. Some 600 are on rotation leave. Others included reservists to be discharged.

The Gen. J. C. Breckenridge and Sgt. Charles E. Mower with some 2,300 military passengers are due tomorrow.

The Gen. D. L. Sultan, carrying 350 servicemen, is due Thursday.

ST. CHARLES, Mo., July 10.—(P)—A new crest rolled down the Missouri river toward the Mississippi today but authorities figured the worst was over.

The latest surge of flood waters had reached Booneville and the Missouri was rising both at Jefferson City and Hermann on downstream but it was falling at Kansas City despite heavy rains in Kansas.

Miss Harrell Bride of Lt. P. A. Manning

Miss Gilda Zoe Harrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Harrell of Stover, became the bride of Lt. Paul Arlen Manning, U. S. M. C., son of Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Manning, of El Cajon, Calif., Friday evening July 6 in the Stover Methodist church. Rev. M. B. Van Lee read the double ring ceremony in the presence of immediate relatives and close friends amid a setting of asters and burning tapers. Mrs. Jewell Stevinson, pianist, played the wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Floyd Duffer, Jr., who sang "With This Ring," and "At Dawning." Judith Stevinson, wearing a dress of blue dimity, lit the tapers.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white frost embroidered organza designed with a fitted bodice on a yoke of illusion and a bouffant skirt of ballerina length with a hemline of scalloped embroidery. Her finger-tip veil of illusion cascaded from a tiara of orange blossoms and she carried a white Bible topped with daisies, a gift of the groom. She wore mits of the organza, which tapered to points over the hands. Her only ornament was an heirloom locket. For something borrowed, she carried a silk handkerchief, for something blue she wore the traditional blue garter, and for good luck, wore a penny in her left shoe.

Miss Shirley Rottman of Kansas City, the maid of honor, wore a dress of ballerina length pastel green organza, fashioned with a V-neckline, tight bodice and bouffant skirt. Her gown, like that of the bride, was worn over a crinoline petticoat. Her bouquet was of pink carnations with baby breath and she wore pink flow-ers in her hair.

The groom added to the atmosphere of white by wearing the Marine Corps dress white uniform. Warren Harrell, brother of the bride, was best man. Walter Krause, of Minneapolis, Minn., was usher.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Harrell chose a blue linen dressmaker style suit with black accessories. Her carriage was of deep pink carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Balke occupied the places reserved for the groom's parents during the ceremony, as they were unable to attend.

A reception was held in the church basement. The tiered wedding cake was topped with a horseshoe design, under which stood a miniature bride and groom. Adhering to Marine Corps custom, Lt. Manning and the bride cut the cake with his sword. Miss Kay Trynovsky of Kansas City, Mrs. Floyd Duffer, Jr., and Mrs. Earl Balke served at the table.

The couple left after the reception for a honeymoon at the Lake of the Ozarks, and will later visit Washington, D. C., before going to Cherry Point, N. C., where they will make their home.

Mrs. Manning is a graduate of Stover high school, class of '45. She attended Central Missouri State college and New Mexico Western college, and has been in the teaching profession the past four years. She is a member of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority.

Lt. Manning is a graduate of Grossmont Union high school, El Cajon, Calif., class of '47. The son of a retired Navy man, he spent most of his childhood in China and the Philippines. After serving two years in the Navy as an enlisted man, he was accepted as a Naval Aviator Cadet, and transferred to Pensacola for training. Upon receiving his wings of gold he was commissioned in the U. S. Marine Corps, as a Second Lieutenant. He is now stationed at Cherry Point, North Carolina, served with the famed Wake Island Avengers.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Mrs. Roy Hutton of Kansas City, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Coester of Central, New Mexico.

Memorial Paid To The Airlift

By Thomas A. Reedy

BERLIN, July 10—(P)—Berliners, 75,000 strong jammed Tempelhof air base today as the city government unveiled a memorial to the Allied airlift which snarled the Soviet blockade two years ago.

Under a baking sun, the vast throng stood in mute tribute to what Mayor Ernst Reuter described as the "spirit that kept Berlin free."

The monument is a 63-foot stone arch with three crescent-like tips symbolizing the American, British and French "air corridors" used by the big cargo planes to span the Russian zone and free the city.

Inscribed in bronze at the base of the statue were the names of 30 Allied fliers and five Germans who died mostly in crashes during the 11-month-long siege.

American Maj. Gen. William H. Tunner, the commander of the airlift, came back to Berlin for the ceremony and asserted the Berlin job was the biggest in history.

Gen. Tunner declared that he personally remembered "the thousands of Berliners, almost half of them women, who took the very rocks and stones from the street and built them up into the runways at Teel, Tempelhof and Gatow."

"The men who died, did so in a worthy cause," Tunner asserted. "This lasting memorial to them should serve as a reminder to all the world that free men are willing to lay down their lives for the principles in which they believe."

Honor guards of U. S., British and French airmen presented arms as the memorial was unveiled. Wreaths were laid by Mayor Reuter and Allied officers.

Inscribed in German over the names of the victims of airlift crashes was: "They gave their lives for the freedom of Berlin on duty with the airlift 1948-49."

ROCKPORT, Mass., July 10—(P)—Cartoonist Dudley Fisher, 61, creator of "right around home" and "Myrtle," died early today of coronary thrombosis just a few hours after he arrived here for a summer vacation.

His wife, Anne, and grown daughter, Marion, were with Fisher when he was stricken in a hotel cottage near Rockport's famous seashore.

The Fisher family had arrived by plane yesterday from their home at 1331 Cambridge Boulevard, Columbus, Ohio.

An undertaker said Fisher's body would be shipped by train from Boston to Columbus tomorrow for possible funeral services in his home city Friday.

NEW YORK — The dinner-dancing dress is notably short in most of the Fall collections. There are long evening gowns for really fancy occasions but many of these are done in a mood of slinky elegance that's a flashback to the sinuous Thirties.

The laffia, the satin, the nylon net, the ottoman that make up these short evening frocks are cut, for the most part, with very full skirts and cuffed tops or wide necklines. The skirts sometimes are stiffened by means of a lining; sometimes given crinoline petticoats. The effect is bell-like;

Colors are pale for these short gowns. Designer Hannah Troy calls them "water pastels." These are the new pale pinks, ice blues and champagne-color yarn-dye dresses, done in dull satin. Nylon nets, in gray or taupe, appear in this designer's collection. They are given glittering touches in smocking, in skirt or hip decorations, by means of bugle beads, iridescent sequins, rhinestones and pearls.

Gray nylon net, cut by Hannah Troy into a short evening frock (left) has a very full, stiffened skirt with a high neckline that looks with a bow of self-cording. The bodice, is done with gray braid embroidered in pearls, rhinestones, bugle beads and sequins. The jeweling is eased off on the skirt by means of a rayed design.

Another after-five dress from this same collection is periwinkle blue taffeta (right) with a crisp cuff framing the face in portrait effect. The cuff, lightly draped about the shoulders, swerves down through the bodice into a full, stiffened wraparound skirt that buttons.

Early-Morning Price Debate Revealed Special-Interest Men

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, July 10 — The public was asleep at 3 a. m. when the Senate staged its most revealing debate on price control. Asleep also were many newspapermen.

Yet the speeches certain senators made at that time — just as price controls were scheduled to expire — and the amendments they introduced, give the clearest of all pictures regarding who pulls the strings to make certain senators dance.

At about 2:30 a. m. up spoke Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan, his silver hair more awry than usual. He had an amendment which would have increased the price of automobiles throughout the nation.

Ferguson did not mention the fact that his wife and son-in-law are heavy stockholders in a subsidiary of one of the biggest automobile companies — Chrysler. Nor did Sen. Willis Robertson of Virginia mention it as Sen. Elmer Thomas was unkind enough to do three years ago when he threatened to expose Ferguson's family interest in Chrysler unless Ferguson quit investigating him.

However, Robertson, alert to catch the significance of Ferguson's amendment, warned his colleagues that it was "tailored perfectly to increase the price of automobiles."

"Then this is a roll-up amendment," snapped Clinton Anderson of New Mexico. "If we want chaos in price administration, this is the easiest way to get it I have ever seen."

Then, turning to Ferguson, the New Mexico senator observed: "It applies primarily to the automobile industry."

"The senator is correct," admitted Ferguson. "Why should that industry be discriminated against?"

"The profits of automobile manufacturers were reasonably good, were they not?" Anderson asked, referring to the fact that most big motor companies have just celebrated their highest profits in history.

"Now we come to the secret. The senator wants to fix prices so as to determine profits," angrily shouted the Michigan senator.

Ferguson had reason to expect his automobile amendment to pass like other special-interest amendments, log-rolled through in the early hours of the morning. But it was defeated — with Michigan's other senator, Bill Moody of Detroit, voting against it.

Peanuts And Milk
Senators Ed Thye, Minnesota Republican, and Warren Magnuson, Washington Democrat, also pushed through an amendment to freeze dairy and peanut products at their present high prices. But Senator Anderson, once secretary of agriculture, and now the consumers' most consistent friend, objected.

"The bill we are considering is designed to try to put ceilings on prices," he said. "How is a measure that would prevent prices from dropping germane to a bill that is trying to put on ceilings?"

"That may have been true so far as the original intent of the bill," sarcastically interposed Senator Douglas of Illinois, another friend of the housewife, "but it is completely inappropriate now, since the price-control bill has turned into a bill to increase prices."

However, Senator Thye, himself a dairy farmer, defended the bill on the grounds "it is necessary in the general defense of our land."

"I do not believe that the national defense is going to be jeopardized in the slightest if we allow a peanut from some other country to come into this country," snorted Anderson.

Cattle And Black Markets
However, the dairy-peanut amendment passed.

Anderson also tried to block an amendment by Sen. Hugh Butler, Nebraska Republican, weakening the government's control over meat slaughtering. Butler raises cattle in Nebraska, while Anderson raises cattle in New Mexico. But while Butler has been the great champion of the cattleman — and his pocketbook interest — Anderson has voted against his own pocketbook.

"The Butler amendment," charged Anderson, "is a black market amendment."

This brought Senate Majority Leader Ernest McFarland of Arizona angrily to his feet. Though he is supposed to be the administration spokesman, he supported Butler.

"I resent the insinuation that this is a black-market amendment," bristled McFarland. "I cannot permit him (Anderson) to say unchallenged that I am advocating a black market."

Later, Anderson read a telegram to show that he was supported by some meat packers. In the final showdown vote, Butler's meat amendment passed overwhelmingly.

Children or $5

While the Senate voted for the special interests, it voted against the underprivileged, on an amendment offered by New York's gentle Sen. Herbert Lehman. Lehman, who lost his son in the war, begged the Senate to "make it illegal for a landlord to deny the rental of housing accommodations to any applicant solely on the ground that the applicant has children."

No one dared to speak publicly against Lehman's amendment, but the senators shouted it down with a chorus of "No's."

Finally, in the wee hours of the morning, Michigan's young Senator Moody put up a last-ditch fight to strike out all the special-interest amendments and salvage a good price-control law.

"It is about time that the interest of the consumers, of the American people, is considered ahead of the special interests who hope to profit by inflation at the public's expense," pleaded Moody.

Sen. Bill Benton, Connecticut Democrat, agreed.

"Abraham Lincoln said there should be a proper balance between property rights and human rights. However, that balance has been entirely upset in the past few days in the course of the proceedings in this chamber," Benton declared. "I suggest that we had better begin to consider how to reach the proper balance between property rights and human rights. If we do not do so, we shall lose the cold war. We shall lose it by losing the war of inflation."

But Sen. Irving Ives, New York Republican, saw the handwriting on the wall. Ives has consistently battled for the consumer. So, at about 4 a. m., he admitted defeat: "The votes are against us, and there is nothing we can do about it. Only the test of time can show that we are right and they are wrong. I am willing to abide by that test. I should like to have the question come to a vote."

The roll was called — and the Senate voted — against the public, 59 to 22.

Price of Tin And Revolt
Price of tin is the subject of the nationalist-revolutionary movement, whose leader, Victor Paz Estenssoro, won the presidential election in May only to be counted out when the military junta now governing that country nullified the results, are getting ready to take over by force within 60 days.

Ever since former President Mamerto Urriolagoitia turned the government over to the army, as the only alternative to recognizing Paz's victory, the latter's well organized supporters have been preparing a coup. Only the question of timing had to be settled — and now the RFC has provided the solution for that.

When the state department blandly announced its recognition of the Bolivian military junta, a few days after Urriolagoitia resigned, an left the country, there were shrugs and knowing smiles

Ahead of Schedule

WILD WEST CHARITY STANDISH BY CHARLES JUDAH

Copyright 1951 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Charity Standish, before the turn of the century, goes West to get rid of her fever. In San Lorenzo, N. M., she forgets her fever and thinks of love. Particularly Douglas Kent she accepts his proposal, then learns that Doug is a gambler.

CHARITY STANDISH wore her finest gown to the Aztec with Douglas Kent that night and was nervous lest it be not half fine enough. The Aztec was one of those fantastically impossible dreams that come true only in strange corners of America. It was castle-on-the-Rhine, chateau-on-the-Loire and hunting-lodge-in-the-Black Forest, all rolled into one.

It covered four acres of ground that sat steeply up the side of a canyon some six miles west of San Lorenzo. It was constructed on seven different levels and the outside was in three different styles of architecture. Inside, however, it was uniform—pure American millionaire, with walnut paneling and marble bath in each of the 400 guest rooms.

The casino was in keeping with the rest. Not the sort of place Hutton-fair Kit or Fly-Speak Az would be likely to visit, though Billy the Kid sometimes swaggered through it. Nor was it the sort of place in which Douglas Kent customarily gambled. But it was definitely the sort of place to which a man could take a girl from a small town in Ohio. Nowhere was gambling carried on more elegantly, no clientele could be more genteel. Roulette, faro, blackjack and craps explained each game to Charity.

It sounded complicated and a little dull. It was more fun to look at the women's clothes, and to guess which ones of them were wives, and which were maybe not. At a dice table Doug won a small bet.

all over the hemisphere. Informal observers of inter-American relations took the view that such action was inevitable, no matter how little it jibed with our democratic precepts, considering Paz Estenssoro's belligerent anti-U.S. attitude.

But no one thought that this would be followed almost immediately by such a move as the RFC's recent drastic reduction in the price of tin. Naturally, the two circumstances are quite unrelated — but try to tell a Bolivian that! Even the who are 100 per cent pro-American have been shocked by what looks like a baldly arrogant gesture.

To those who were planning the revolutionary movement, this unfortunate announcement of the price cut has been a godsend. They had been telling everyone that political events of the past 60 days were dictated by Washington; so the RFC action seemed like a resounding confirmation. With a good part of the officers below the rank of major on their side, the Nationalists are openly planning their coup for no later than September 1.

"It's a sign you're going to bring me good luck," he crowed and added airily, "Seven's my friend."

"But wasn't $5 a good deal to risk?" Charity asked.
For answer he took her to a roulette table. It was piled high with silver and gold, for Aztec currency scorned the effete paper currency of the East, holding that shining specie better symbolized the glamour of New Mexico. But Charity thought it was silly to have so much money strewn carelessly around, and wondered nervously concerning the whereabouts of Scar-face Charlie and Rattle-snake Joe, who appeared to be overlooking a great business opportunity.

Under a high paling moon that a few hours earlier had risen in orange splendor above the mesa she kissed him.

"Couldn't you do something else, Doug? A ranch, maybe?"

HE knew he could make a living on a ranch. This was good sheep country and fair for cattle. During the years in the West he had tidied over more than one financial crisis by taking any job that offered itself. It added up to considerable experience. Yes, he could make a living on a ranch. He could picture Charity, on the veranda of the long adobe ranch house, waiting for him or, better yet, too impatient to wait, riding to meet him.

The idyllic visions faded. He no longer saw Charity waiting for him at the day's end, fresh and laughing. He saw his mother and aunts as they were at the end of the war, gaunt and careworn, temper and spirits as frayed as their bodies. He saw himself walking home from the fields, walking because the one remaining man was even more exhausted than he. He could almost feel again the hot stinging tears that had been shed, not for hurt or defeat, but out of sheer rage that life should be all drudgery.

"I can't do it, Charity, honey. I just can't," he muttered.

Start Training Daughter Early If She Is to Marry

If you want your daughter to marry—and most mothers do—you can't start too soon to sell her on the idea that marriage and motherhood are a woman's natural "career."

How do you get this idea across? In many different ways. You start teaching her when she is small any of the skills of homemaking she is old enough to master. And you teach her in a way that makes her feel she is learning something really important.

You assume that she will some day have a home of her own. "When you are grown and have your own home . . ." you'll say to her. Yes, "I'll say it often enough that she will come to count on it as a big part of her future."

out of sheer rage that life should be all drudgery.

"I can't do it, Charity, honey. I just can't," he muttered.

SHE kissed him again and told him that she had been foolish, and that it did not matter. He was relieved that she had decided to be sensible, that the matter was thus settled so satisfactorily. But when they were riding down the canyon together something stirred within him something he had brought from South Carolina, some deep instinctive thing that he knew about women like Charity, and men like himself. He sensed uneasily that a smooth skin and eagerness for love were not all that he required of a wife. What life was he offering as an alternative to the one which he insisted Charity relinquish?

Living in dreary hotel rooms, waiting alone night after night, hoping nervously that his luck would be good. Or if that proved intolerable she might accompany him, not to Casinos like that of the Aztec, but to places like Duke Roger's Four Aces, where she could exchange amenities with the boys, or chat with women like Angel. But if he attempted ranching what would he use for money? He had exactly $180. Of course Ken Montijo owed him a good deal; but Ken was in the Apache country; there was no telling when he might get back.

"What's the horse's name?" Charity demanded plaintively.

He came back to her slowly. "Horse's name? Why?"

"I'd like to be properly introduced so I could talk to him. You won't even answer my questions."

"I'm sorry. Guess I was too busy loving you."

"What a nice way to pass the time; but isn't it a bit difficult—being on different horses and all that?"

"We could dismount and look at the moon."

"Not tonight. Tonight I'm asking questions. Do you spend much time at the Aztec?"

"Not much. As a matter of fact I move around—Texas, Colorado, New Mexico. In San Lorenzo I go mostly to the Four Aces."

The Doctor Says—

It's Possible to Scoop Out A Grave With Your Teeth

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

In spite of the fact that hundreds of thousands of men, women, and children weigh more than they should and most of them have a more or less active desire to reduce, few seem to realize how much they are putting their health in danger by remaining fat.

Obesity has been shown to have an unfavorable effect on a large number of diseases including high blood pressure, diabetes, toxemia of pregnancy, heart disease, and even cancer.

The fat person runs increased risks from surgery, is more likely to develop gallbladder disease and to sustain fractures and a whole host of life's other hazards.

A person between 45 and 55 years of age who is 25 pounds overweight has a 25 per cent increased chance of dying within the next year as compared with someone of normal weight.

More weight increases the dangers proportionately. A side from every other disadvantage of excessive fat, the heart has to do extra work to pump blood through all this unnecessary tissue.

All this has given rise to the expression "digging one's grave with the teeth," a saying which is far too near the truth to be comfortable.

It is probably wise for everyone to know his or her ideal weight and to make an effort to reach it and stay there. This is not necessarily the average weight for age, sex and height since this may well be too high, especially for people of small frame and for those who are over 30 years old.

Tables of "ideal" weight cannot be presented here, but a few selections may help some readers to place themselves.

Figures on this have been prepared by a large insurance company: for women over 25, height 5 feet—from 105 to 129 pounds depending on the size of frame: height 5 feet 5 inches—from 119 to 145 pounds depending on frame; height 5 feet 9 inches—from 133 to 162 pounds also depending on frame.

Range for Men
Similarly the range for men (varying with the frame) runs like this: 5 feet 6 inches—from 129 to 157 pounds; 5 feet 10 inches—from 144 to 175 pounds; 6 feet 2 inches—from 163 to 202 pounds.

Tables have also been prepared for growing boys and girls of different ages and heights. But there are variations between individuals which may be quite normal—in size of frame, for example—so it is best to arrive at an ideal with the assistance of the doctor.

that you are proud to be a wife and mother.

Most Important Of All
That last is the most important of all. For the mother who gives her daughter the idea that a housewife is little more than a slave to her house and family is likely to give her the idea that any job is better than the job of homemaking.

Sometimes girls brought up with that notion never realize marriage was really what they wanted until their chances of marriage are over.

So if you want your daughter to marry, don't sell marriage short. And don't wait until she is grown to try to get her interested in the skills necessary for homemaking.

Assume that she is going to be a homemaker. Convince her that it is a woman's most rewarding job. Then the chances are she won't turn out to be one of those girls who gets sidetracked by a career and one day must face the fact that marriage has passed her by.

Looking Backward Forty Years

Liberal rains fell throughout the central part of the state and La Monte, Concordia, Mc Allister Springs and other points received a generous amount while Sedalia had just enough to settle the dust.

E. H. Calef, formerly commercial agent for the Missouri Pacific here, was in the city en route to Colorado. He is now one of the company officials at St. Louis.

Schuyler Pritchard, a former Sedalia, has signed a contract for the fall and winter season in theatricals with the original Ben Hur company as a clarinetist.

George L. Yeager returned from Colorado where he had been with members of his family who had been sojourning at Denver, Manitou, Colorado Springs and Pueblo.

Denies Telling Group Had a 'Slush' Fund

Lowellen of Bus Association at Lobby Hearing

JEFFERSON CITY, July 10.— (P)—U. G. Lowellen, manager of the Missouri Bus and Truck association, denied before the House lobby investigating committee today that:

1. He told members of his organization not to worry, the group had $200,000 with which to defeat Gov. Forrest Smith's proposed gasoline tax.

2. He told them the organization's own version of a bill would pass the legislature.

3. The organization has had a secret or "slush" fund to influence legislation.

Lowellen admitted he prepared the truck fee bill which later won House passage and now is awaiting Senate action. He said he turned the bill over to Rep. Roy W. McGhee (D) of Wayne county, an old school chum, and Rep.
W. D. C. Cedar county, a minority floor leader.

They introduced it jointly. It passed the House after adoption of several changes.

Quizzed by Shockley Rep. Tom A. Shockley (D) of Pulaski county, chairman of the lobby investigating committee, quizzed Lowellen closely on remarks he allegedly made to members of the bus and truck association. When Lowellen denied making them, Shockley reminded him of the bill.

"Well, you'll be surprised to know one of your directors said you did. If you knew which one you'd crawl under the table."

Lowellen urged Shockley to produce the man.

First, appearing before the committee, Lowellen said the comsuch questions. He said the com-

Americans. Musial whaled Lopat's ahead 2-1. Dom DiMaggio pulled in Robinson's terrific clutch hit in the runny front of the left-center field fence, 400 feet away. Hodges got a single on a vicious grounder that hit the third base bag, skipped through Kell's legs and then hit Umpire

Lou Jordan on the leg. Elliott smashed a home run over the left field screen about 350 feet away, scoring Hodges. Hodges, who Williams raced into left center

into the second deck of the right field stands. Robinson was charmed with an error when Fain's sharp grounder bounced off his left hand and rolled into center field. Dark fielded Carrasquel's slow roller and whipped to Robinson, forcing Fain at second.
Robinson's relay to first was too late to double up Carrasquel. Larry Doby, Indians, batted for Lo-pat and popped to Jones.

screen. It was the fourth homer hit in the game, two by each side. Williams walked. Robinson juggled Beria's hot smash, but recovered in time to retire the batter with a quick throw to Hodges.

One run, one hit, no errors,
one left.

National Sixth

center field screen 400 feet away.
The ball fell a foot short of clearing the screen for a home run.
Fain struck out. Orestes Minoso, White Sox, batted for Carrasquel.
Dark scooped up Mino's sharp grounder, second base and threw him out.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

National Seventh
Phil Rizzuto, Yankees, went to shortstop and Mino took over in oso sharply to Fox who threw to Rizzuto, forcing Dark at second.

base bag for a single. Hodges grounded to Rizzuto who tossed to Fox, forcing Robinson at second.

down swinging. D. DiMaggio also struck out, swinging. Bobby Doerr, Red Sox, batted for Fox.
Doerr lined a single to center.
Kell took Ashburn's long fly.

No runs, one hit, one left.

National Eighth
Doerr went to second for the Americans and Mel Parnell, Red Sox, lefthander, went to the mound. Jones struck out swinging after fouling off five successive pitches. Kiner clouted the National league's fourth homer of the game into the upper deck of the left-center field stands. The attendance was announced at 52,075 and the gate receipts at $124,294.07. Campanella sent a long fly to Mino near the field boxes in right field. The Nationals total of eight runs is the most they have ever recorded in an All-Star game. The previous high was seven. Newcombe singled sharply to right. Ashburn sent a bouncing single into right field. Newcombe stopping

one left.

National Ninth
Bob Lemon, Cleveland right-hander, went to the mound. E.

Busby, White Sox, replaced Williams in left field for the Amstretched glove to right field.

sharp rap off Lemon's glove. Musial stopping at second. Hodges was called out on strikes and Musial was doubled up trying to go to third. Beria to Kell. J.

Lou Jordan on the leg. Elliott
smashed a home run over the left
field screen about 350 feet away,

gan's high pop fly to left center field and it dropped among them for a two-base hit. D. DiMaggio was called out on strikes. Hegan advanced to third on a passed ball.
Doerr walked. Kell went down swinging.

No runs, one hit, no errors,
two left.

High Cost of High Flying Isn't Just Inflation

Complexities of Modern War, Especially In Air, Make Prices Soar

HOTTEST OLD PLANE, famed P-61 Black Widow nightfighter of World War II, cost Uncle Sam about $220,000.

HOTTEST NEW PLANE, the jet F-89 Scorpion, costs about $88,000, four times as much as the P-61.

By Douglas Larsen
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — There's more than inflation to blame for the high cost of the modern arms Uncle Sam is buying in great numbers today.

War, especially in the air, has become infinitely more complex than it was during World War II. And so have the tools with which to wage it.

The difference between the in-ards of a modern, sleek, super-speed fighter plane, and one of World War II vintage of the same type, gives a convincing reason why taxes are going up.

One of the "hottest" planes the Air Force is buying today is the Northrop all-weather jet fighter, the F-89 Scorpion. It's one of the fastest operational planes the Air Force flies, with speeds nudging the 700-mile-per-hour bracket. Its World War II counterpart was the famed P-61 Black Widow fighter.

A comparison of the two planes starts with an approximate cost of each. The F-89 is being sold to the Air Force for about $880,000. The P-61 was bought for a little over $220,000, or one-fourth.

Some of the present jet fighters cost five to six times as much as the older models which were built to do the same type job.

The equipment on the F-89 which did not exist when the P-61 was made includes: Sperry Zero Reader, a navigating aid; a new type of electronic automatic pilot; an instrument landing system such as used by commercial planes; an electronic fuel quantity system, afterburner control, fuel valve control system and fuel flow system; an electronic yaw stabilizer; a marker beacon radio; an inter-service cockpit lighting system; a 120-volt generating system; electronic windshield de-fog and de-ice controls.

Each one of those devices took years to develop and is extremely expensive to manufacture. Yet they are now all essential to modern military flying.

In addition to those highly complex electronic devices the F-89 requires approximately 33,000 feet (6 1/2 miles) of various kinds of electrical wire. The P-61 required 18,000 feet (3 1/2 miles).

The extremely high speed of the F-89 makes necessary several other expensive features. All antenna for the various radio and radar sets have to be built inside the plane or made flush with the plane's surfaces.

The high altitude with the high speed require pressurized cockpits with a complicated air conditioning system built into the plane. It must provide instant hot air as well as fast refrigeration.

For crew safety in case a bail-out is necessary, the plane has a canopy over the cockpit which can be blown off with an explosive charge. The seats also are equipped with the explosive ejection device.

The landing gear on the F-89 is made to come up and down very fast. This requires an extremely high-pressure hydraulic system. The plane also requires another complete hydraulic system for the controls. A pilot doesn't have expensive to manufacture. Yet they are now all essential to modern military flying.

How Does the Soldier Feel as To Cease-Fire?

By Hal Boyle
NEW YORK — (AP) — A friend came to me and said:

"What interests me most about the proposed cease-fire in Korea isn't what the military leaders or world diplomats think about it. 'What about the individual American soldier? How does he feel about it? If we settle for a cease-fire, will he think the war in Korea was worthwhile? Or will he think he fought for nothing?'"

It's a good point. No settlement will basically satisfy American troops if it belittles the blood they shed or the sacrifices they made in the bitter accendard warfare in Korea. They weren't defeated on the hills, and certainly they wouldn't be happy to find they had been negotiated into defeat in the valleys.

The main thing a soldier hates, the defeat itself, is to halt short of his goal. The taking of his assigned objective is the heart of his duty. And all successful warfare is based on the assumption that troops will take their objectives.

What were the objectives of the American troops in Korea? Their primary goal was to halt Communist aggression by counter force. Later, a secondary goal was added by the United Nations—the creation of a free, independent, United Korea.

The first soldiers who landed on the peninsula thought that stopping the little Red enemy would be easy. Some thought that all they had to do was stand on a hill and show the American uniform, and the North Koreans would immediately turn tail and retreat back across the 38th parallel.

Instead, the American army got its greatest shock since Pearl Harbor. The Communists attacked with ferocity and skill. The dazed, outnumbered, over-confident U. S. enough strength to move the controls manually at the high speeds of the F-89.

All those features of the F-89, which the P-61 didn't have, are in the non-classified category. The secret electronics gear and radar on the F-89 are far more complex than that in the P-61. The method of firing the F-89's guns by radar and electronics is a tremendously expensive device.

In effect, the modern planes have required the development of practically a brand new electronics industry financed by the taxpayer, just as the taxpayer had to pay for the creation of practically a brand new aircraft industry at the start of World War II.

And today I think most of them will accept a fair and firm "cease-fire" as a victory, and regret only the lost friends who cannot hear their country's verdict: "Well done."

troops were almost pushed back into the sea.

They recoiled, landed behind the enemy and destroyed the major part of the North Korean army. Then veteran Chinese Communist troops came into the fray by the hundreds of thousands. As late as six months ago it again looked like the United States forces might face an Oriental Dunkerque.

But the wall of moving fire-power they threw up time and again has thrown back the Chinese-Korean hordes and shattered them.

Who first cried "uncle?" the Russians—for their dismayed Korean and Red Chinese buddies.

The American soldiers has regained his old self-confidence, and now it is based on a solid pride in his performance.

He feels he has done the job he was sent to do—hurl the aggressors back where they came from. As to the creation of an independent Korea, he probably would just as soon let the diplomats figure that one out.

Many an American soldier a year ago questioned the wisdom of the Korean struggle. The entrance of the Chinese Reds did more than anything else to make him realize there was a real need for democratic nations to draw a line beyond which aggression could not go.

Soldiers who fight long and well must come to believe that what they are fighting in is worthwhile. Most Americans in Korea came to feel that by their efforts they were helping keep a greater war from America.

And today I think most of them will accept a fair and firm "cease-fire" as a victory, and regret only the lost friends who cannot hear

their country's verdict: "Well done."

"50,000 Miles-No Wear!" Proved Here:

After a punishing 50,000-mile road test, with proper drains and regular care, engines lubricated with new Conoco Super Motor Oil showed no wear of any consequence: in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts. AND gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000!

'Sugar Ray' to Fight Tonight

His Middleweight Title On The Line in London

By Ben Phlegar
LONDON, July 10—(P)—Sugar Ray Robinson puts his world middleweight title on the line tonight against the finest puncher ever developed in Britain, 23-year-old Randolph Turpin.

The chances are so strong that Robinson will keep the crown that if you back the champion you have to risk four bucks to win one.

If you like Turpin—most folks seem to feel he's a nice young lad being tossed to a hungry tiger—you can get odds of 3 to 1.

Although the odds make it look like a one-sided battle, the match has attracted the paying public like mad. Promoter Jack Solomons sold out the 18,000-seat indoor Earl's Court arena within 24 hours after the signing of the contracts.

The gross will run around $224,000, with Robinson getting about $84,000, the biggest purse ever paid a fighter here.

Turpin is also getting his biggest purse since he turned pro in 1946, about $28,000.

Turpin has the physical equipment to pull an upset. He's eight years younger than Robinson. He is fast, strong as an ox, a natural middleweight without poundage worries and carries a knockout punch in both hands.

A half inch shorter than the champion at five feet 10 1/2, Turpin has a longer reach, a thicker chin and bigger muscles. And he probably will outweigh Sugar by two or three pounds at the weigh-in.

But by world standards he is woefully inexperienced. America's National Boxing Association last week listed him first among the "outstanding boxers" in the middleweight division, but didn't class him good enough to be considered logical contender for Robinson's title. Nobody was.

Rady has won 46 fights and lost two after an amateur career that included over 100 bouts. He never has met a fighter listed in the world rankings, past or present.

Mystery Who is to Succeed Chandler

DETROIT, July 10—(P)—Baseball's big mystery continues to be: Who will succeed A. B. Chandler as commissioner?

There was much informal discussion of the job as baseball men met here for the All-Star game, but a big league owner who declined use of his name said neither the American nor National league meeting took up the problem.

Chandler steps out July 15 following which the executive council will run the game. This is composed of Ford Frick, National league president; Will Harridge, American league president; Tom Yawkey, president of the Red Sox; and Warren Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds.

Although there have been no positive indications of sentiment yet, straw in the wind seem to indicate growing support for picking a baseball man rather than a national figure to head up the game.

The names most frequently heard in this connection are Frick, Giles, and George Trautman, head of the minor leagues.

NEW YORK, July 10—(P)—A conservative morning journal, denying a yarn that there's a rift between Joe DiMaggio and Yankee Manager Casey Stengel, points out that Joe has become something of a "loner" lately. . . . He eats alone, seldom talks to his teammates or his manager and is inclined to return short, surly answers to reporters. . . . We've heard the same thing elsewhere, and the scribes who used to be Joe's friends are now letting him alone. . . . You can't blame a guy for feeling sour when he's on the downgrade after a great career. . . . And Joe, with a .261 batting average and frequent periods of enforced idleness, must realize he's near the end of the string. . . . DiMaggio is a guy who made a bad start and then learned to accept fame gracefully. You couldn't find a more pleasant companion than Joe when he was at his peak. . . . If he'd learn the same graceful acceptance of the end of his playing career he could go right on as one of the great personalities in sports. . . . Maybe it would be harder to come by $100,000 a year, but there isn't anybody who could have better opportunities as an ex-ball player.

All he needs now is mountain goats for caddies. . . . Bob Rice, the Pirates' road secretary, says the ball players meal checks this year average $1.35 more than they used to. . . . ## Chandler Asserts 'I'll Be Back'

DETROIT, July 10—Retiring commissioner A. B. Chandler had baseball people guessing today with an "I'll be back" pledge.

Chandler, who is stepping down as the game's kingpin next week, made the statement in his self-styled "valedictory" speech here last night. The occasion was a Detroit Times sponsored ceremony honoring all-time Detroit Tiger greats.

"I'll serve notice on you now," he said, "I'll be back." He did not elaborate.

Chandler has been mentioned as a possible representative of the players in their overall dealings with club owners.

Freddie Hutchinson of the Tigers and Ralph Kiner of the Pittsburgh Pirates, American and National league players representatives, said the players had voted to present a plaque to the outgoing commissioner.

Former all-time Detroit Tiger great, Harry Heilmann (above) 56, died in Detroit July 9. ## Denial of Rift With DiMaggio

DETROIT, July 10—(P)—Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees denied today that any animosity existed between him and Joe DiMaggio, his slipping outfield star and berated those "who are trying to embarrass Joe through me."

"If I didn't like the fellow why would I pick him for the All-Star team and bring him here?" Stengel demanded. "The fans didn't pick him. I did."

"Certain sharpshooters have been trying to knock DiMaggio down for years," Casey continued. "They wait until he slips a little then—bang—they give him the works. Now why should they do that to a great ball player and a great guy like Joe?"

"He's been a great star for years and a great credit to the Yankees and baseball. Why should I, of all people, have anything against the guy. Why, he made me a great manager. Do you think I would have been successful without him in the lineup. They called me a lousy manager in Brooklyn and Boston."

Rumors of strife between Stengel and DiMaggio first began last summer when Casey dropped Joe out of the cleanup spot and attempted to convert the great centerfielder into a first baseman. The rumors were revived over the week-end when Stengel removed DiMaggio from the lineup in Saturday's game at Boston.

A reporter went to see DiMaggio in the clubhouse and asked why he was taken out of the lineup.

"Go see the manager," Joe replied. "Maybe he'll tell you."

Stengel explained he removed DiMaggio, along with regulars Phil Rizzuto and Gerry Coleman in order to "rest" them for Sunday's game with the Red Sox.

Theft From the Brooks Home

A sneak thief entered the residence of Mrs. Elizabeth Brooks, 417 East Broadway, sometime between midnight Monday and 2:30 a. m. today stealing two ladies pocketbooks which were later discarded in the yard and an Elgin gold watch.

The thief entered through a front door and stole through the house while occupants were asleep, picking up Mrs. Brooks' pocketbook, one of Mrs. Margaret Olson, and the watch of Con Donahue. Exit was out the rear door.

In the yard a hurried search of the pocketbooks was made, $5.00 being taken from that of Mrs. Olson, while contents of Mrs. Brooks were recovered. The watch was stolen.

Mr. Donahue reported the value of the watch was more of an heirloom it being 65 years old.

Crime Inquiry At Army Camps

By John Chadwick
WASHINGTON, July 10—(P)—Senate crime investigators promised full cooperation today with an inquiry into complaints that prostitutes and gamblers are flocking around some of the nation's army camps.

Chairman O'Connor (D-Md.) told reporters the crime committee already has had some of its investigators looking into the complaints, particularly of prostitution.

He said it was too early to say whether hearings would be held. Indications were, however, that the committee so far has uncovered scant evidence of organized prostitution on an interstate basis around military camps.

The committee is charged with investigating organized crime in interstate commerce and, unless additional information is turned up, it may decide that proceeding around the camps is outside its jurisdiction.

But O'Connor said his committee would do what it could to help the Senate preparedness subcommittee which disclosed yesterday it had received the complaints.

Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) of the preparedness subcommittee, a unit of the Senate armed services committee, said it has ordered some of its own investigators to check on the complaints.

Favorable Trend In Progress to Discuss Cease-Fire Proposal

conditions of peaceful settlement of the Korean war.

The Red radio said eventual solution of the Korean problem should be left to the Korean people themselves.

However, the Kaesong talks, as the U. N. viewpoint was outlined by Admiral Joy, will be restricted entirely to military matters.

In his opening statement he called on the five Red generals to show good faith in the negotiations and pledged the U. N. delegation would do the same. This, the admiral said, would generate an "atmosphere of confidence."

"In such an atmosphere," he said, "there is every reason to hope for success."

Limits to Discussion
And he set strict limits to the subjects of discussion. Joy said the Allies want a stable peace but under no circumstances will they talk about:

1. "Political and economic matters of any kind." That includes the question of a United Nations seat for Communist China.

2. "Military matters unrelated to Korea." This ruled out Formosa and other trouble spots.

Joy said he and the four other military commanders comprising the UN delegation would "discuss military matters in Korea" necessary to end "hostilities in Korea under conditions which will assure against their resumption."

They won't talk about anything else.

Fighting will continue, except in the Kaesong neutral zone, until a cease-fire agreement is reached and "an approved armistice commission is prepared to function."

Run For Weeks
The admiral's statement was made at a brief session opening the negotiations. Sores in Tokyo predicted the talks would last for weeks.

The ten opposing commanders met from 11 a. m. (3 p. m. Monday EST) until 12:31 p. m. then they recessed until 4 p. m. (1 a. m. EST).

The afternoon session broke up after two and one half hours. The allied delegation then resumed its journey back to the allied peace camp.

Military releases made no mention of what the Chinese and North Korean generals said in their opening statement. Press releases by the U. N. were the only source for newsmen of the western world on what happened.

No Fighting in Neutral Zones
The only announced agreement reached by the delegates in the opening session was that there would be no fighting "in those neutral zones agreed upon along and through the route to Kaesong."

In preliminary sessions Sunday the Communists turned down an Allied offer to create a neutral strip centered on Kaesong 25 miles long and ten miles wide. It would have stretched from Munsan, base of the U. N. negotiators, to Kumchon in North Korea.

The Communists said they would rely on the U. N. commander-in-chief, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, not to launch any attacks in the Kaesong area. Ridgway previously declared a neutral zone radiating five miles around Kaesong.

Junior Legion to Play Boonville

The Post 16 Junior Legion team will play host to the Boonville Legion team tonight at Liberty Park. The game will get under way at 8:15.

This will be the first meeting of these two teams this year and a good game is expected. Manager Barr will send his fast ball artist Billy Arnold against the Boonville aggregation. This will not be a league contest.

The Post 16 has only three more league games on their schedule to play. If they win these remaining league games they will represent this district in the zone tournament to be held in Hannibal, July 27-28-29.

Comfort? There's move-around space for six. It's room with a view: big windows all around for visibility. Yes, this is a great car, this Mercury. Drive it a mile or two and you'll want to drive it home.

Will you be sure of good gasoline mileage? Mercury has proved its economy by winning officially sponsored economy tests.

Is it famous for long life? It is indeed! 92% of all Mercurys ever built for use in this country are still on the road, according to latest official annual registration figures.

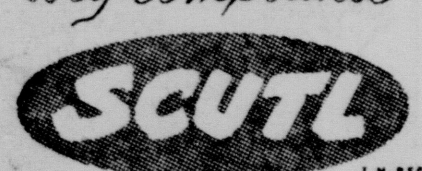

Will upkeep stay low? You'll save money year after year. Mercury's famous stamina keeps repair bills at a rock-bottom low.

Will trade-in value stay high? Mercurys keep their value; and used car market reports consistently prove this to be true.

Does it represent solid value? Mercury owners say YES! So will you when you get the rest of the story. Make the Mercury 2-Way Test—at your nearby dealer.

Open Hearings Set For Redistricting

JEFFERSON CITY, July 10—(P)—Open hearings on Missouri's congressional redistricting plans will be held by a Senate committee Aug. 6 and 7. A similar House committee will have separate hearings at the same time.

The Senate group held its first meeting today and decided against joint sessions with the House committee.

Sen. J. F. Patterson (D) of Caruthersville, chairman, said the committee felt joint hearings would be too unwieldy.

"There are 22 members of the House committee and nine in our group. It would take too long to gather records in a joint meeting of that size," he said.

All Missouri's congressmen have been invited to appear at both committees' sessions. Rep. Wallace Cooper (D) of Johnson county said several congressmen already have accepted the House invitation.

Car, Truck Slightly Damaged In Collision Monday P. M.

A 1948 Chevrolet panel truck driven by Van White, 1109 East 16th and a 1941 Plymouth coach, driven by Charley Thomas, 500 East Third, collided at 4:46 p. m. Monday at the intersection of Second and Massachusetts, causing slight damage to both vehicles.

White was going west on Second and Thomas was traveling north on Massachusetts when the accident occurred.

The drivers reached a settlement at the scene of the accident.

Abraham Lincoln's estate was valued at $110,295.

Tornado Hits Near Camden

RICHMOND, Mo., July 10—(P)—A tornado struck four farms southwest of here near Camden Sunday night. No one was injured.

A large barn was destroyed and several animals were killed on the farm operated by Harold Vandiver and his brother, Bobby. A machine shed was thrown against the house and a combine was damaged.

Eight buildings were demolished on the Ezekiel Belt farm. The roof was torn off the eight-room house and its contents were soaked by rain.

At the Elmer Duffett farm the front porch was thrown up on the roof of the home. A corncrib was destroyed and large trees toppled.

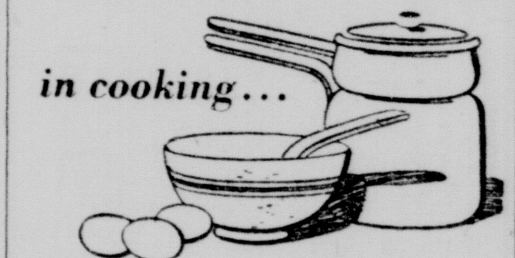

Next the twister lifted a one-story home off its foundation at the Bates farm. James Williams lives in the house, which was the only one in that area not surrounded by water Saturday.

Less than a week ago flood waters destroyed 280 acres of corn on the Vandiver farm.
